3. Answer the following

- a. What phrases (slang) did you learn from the movie? As you can see, i learned a lot of new words, slang and some interesting idioms. For example, Bait and switch, Sidechick, Chrome dome, Liability. Tie the knot, slipped right out, Dub on you (Meanings in the previous point).
- b. Which words were not new to you but were used in a different way? Honestly, very few of them because i don't have an extensive vocabulary, but i can mention some of them; for example: Tinkle, Misread, Batch, Drawers, Palate.
- c. What cultural references did you find interesting? I noticed something interesting. I've heard people say that one of the main reasons that make learn spanish so difficult is because plenty of words have different meanings, but in english that happens too! I excluded some words because i found several meanings for them and i didn't remember what was the context where those words were used. I found lots and lots of sexual references as well, but i think that is common along the different countries and even more in urban slangs. To conclude, i want to say the afroamerican accent is a little bit hard to understand but they sound really cool!.
- d. Anything else you liked from the movie or want to add? Not about the movie, but about the homework. I really like this kind of exercises, i agree that we should learn urban slang and "bad words". I think in real life not everybody speaks following the grammar rules and avoiding the bad words. I feel that kind of words make the language richer and natural, and to speak naturally and understand everybody are the purposes of being studying english.
